A MOVE TO PROTECT THE GAME AND FISH HERE

The State Game & Fish Commission is anxious to lend a helping hand to the sportsmen of Montgomery county in restocking the covers and streams of the county with fish and game. A movement started several days ago by the Commission through its representative here, has met with much success so far.

Executive Agent, J. Quincy Ward, will send to this county, shortly, a large number of English pheasants and quail, and it is up to the sportsmen to use their every effort to protect them. Montgomery county is well adapted for the propagation of game birds, and all that is needed is that the laws be enforced and that every farmer and landowner co-operate with the State Commission and the local officials, to see that they are protected until they can multiply sufficiently. The English pheasant, if not molested, will multiply rapidly, and in a few years the covers of this county can be made a hunter's paradise.

It is also the purpose of the Commission to restock the streams of the county with fish. Slate creek has in the past, afforded as fine a sport as could be expected by any angler, but in the last few years, reckless and unscrupulous persons have taken from its waters, in an unsportsmanlike and illegal manner, many of its fish, and it is the duty now of every resident of Montgomery county, to get together and see that the new stock is protected until the stream is also a fisherman's paradise. The State Commission will also stock the ponds of the county, which it deems suitable.

Mr. Steve K. Vaught, special representative of the Commission, is here to finish up the work, begun sometime ago, of perfecting an organization of the sportsmen of the county. The object of this organization is to secure the co-operation of every farmer and landowner, as well as every sportsman, to see that this new stock of game and fish is protected. Petitions are now in the hands of Mr. Clay Cooper, Mr. George B. Turner, County Game Warden, Mr. Earl Quisenberry, Deputy Warden, Boone Howard, as well as the County Clerk's office. All those interested, especially the sportsmen of the state, are urged to sign these petitions. It is the intention of the Commission to send a very liberal assignment to those counties where interest is taken, and where they will be assured of protection, and for this reason it behooves every one interested here to lend a helping hand, by signing these petitions so the Montgomery county organization can be perfected as soon as possible. Mr. Ward is anxious to come here and deliver a talk at the time the organization is perfected.

Counties of the Bluegrass, especially, are taking great interest, and clubs will be formed in Powell,

Madison, Clark, Fayette and Bourbon, shortly. Look these gentlemen up, who have these petitions and they will be glad to afford you the opportunity of enlisting in this great movement. There is no cost attached to being a member of this organization, just co-operation.

YOU SEE THEM FIRST IN MT. STERLING

In reading the Lexington Herald of Sunday last we noticed a page advertisement of the beautiful new Strand Theatre which opened its doors for the first time Tuesday, October 12th.

The feature picture selected for the opening of this "Kentucky's Finest Photoplay Theatre," was "The Isle of Regeneration," and among the stars announced to be shown at later dates were Viola Allen, Mrs. Fiske, Francis Bushman, Richard Travers and Kathryn Williams.

"The Isle of Regeneration" was shown in Mt. Sterling at the Tabb Theatre six weeks ago, Viola Allen two weeks ago and Mrs. Fiske about two weeks ago, while the others mentioned are booked at the Tabb Theatre. We do not mean this as a "knock" for the Lexington show house but rather as a boost for our home theatre, for it can be readily seen that the movie fans here are getting the very latest productions. A gentleman told us he saw Mary Fuller in "Under Southern Skies" in Mt. Sterling one Monday and the following Wednesday this show was being featured in Cincinnati.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING

Large Number of Alumni Association Present at Meeting on Monday Evening.

In response to the call of the President quite a large number of the Mt. Sterling High School Alumni Association met at the Presbyterian church Monday evening to discuss and devise plans for carrying out some of the hopes and ambitions of the association. It was decided the first thing to be accomplished was the furnishing of a teacher's rest room, the association realizing that this body was entitled to consideration before undertaking any other work. It was decided to give a home talent performance of some kind the latter part of November. In view of the fact that the proceeds are to go toward such a worthy enterprise we trust that the people will give the association their hearty support and co-operation. The association also went on record as approving the efforts of the young people in the publication of the High School News and urged that every graduate of the High School subscribe for the paper.

All members of the association who have not paid their yearly dues are requested to pay same not later than Oct. 15th to Prof. W. O. Hopper, Secretary-Treasurer.

Now that the Alumni is interested and has started to work in earnest we predict that the community as a whole will come forward and aid in this work realizing that any movement that tends toward the betterment of our schools and its facilities is a move in the right direction.
